INTRODUCING THE CO-CURRICULAR RECORD

Graduate Students!

Find out how to get involved on campus, and follow your progress.

The Co-Curricular Record provides a database of activities that allows you to search for opportunities beyond of the classroom, and keep track of your accomplishments.

Connect your involvement with your career prospects.

Link the competencies gained from your experiences to skills that employers and graduate schools look for.

Build your resume.

Use your record to create a resume that will get an employer's attention.

Build your network.

Meet staff, faculty and students and make valuable connections and lasting friendships.

Be more successful in your studies.

Research shows that involved students do better academically.

Get recognized.

Receive an official University of Toronto document validating your many experiences and activities.
