JOB POSTING – SESSIONAL LECTURER

Course Number and Title: PCL1100H1S: Applied Skills in Clinical Pharmacology

Course Description:

This graduate course for students registered in the Applied Clinical Pharmacology (ACP) MSc field of study introduces fundamental principles of clinical research and provides students with the skills necessary for the design, execution, analysis, and critical evaluation of clinical studies in pharmacology. Students will become familiar with various research approaches, methodologies, and strategies commonly employed in clinical pharmacology. Specifically, lectures will cover observational and experimental study designs and techniques; clinical data measurements, collection, and analysis; evidence review (systematic reviews/meta-analysis); ethical, legal, and regulatory guidelines governing clinical research; safety monitoring and adverse event reporting (pharmacovigilance); and key principles of pharmacoeconomics. In addition, students will be introduced to current topics and conceptual issues related to clinical research in pharmacology, and will learn to critically appraise clinical research.

Estimated Course Enrolment: 16

Estimated TA support: None

Course Schedule: Classes are offered on Fridays from 1 to 4 p.m. in the Winter Semester

Sessional dates: December 1, 2024 – May 30, 2025

Salary: SL1: $4,728.95, SL1 LT: $4,965.40, SL2: $5,060.88, SL3: $5,181.38 (rates reflect remuneration for teaching 0.25 FCE)

Please note that should rates stipulated in the collective agreement vary from rates stated in this posting, the rates stated in the collective agreement shall prevail.

Qualifications: Applicants must have completed a PhD in Pharmacology or an MD or related degree and have knowledge of clinical research design and drug development, bioethics, and pharmacoeconomics.

Description of duties:

This role involves course administration (e.g., preparing and managing the course learning portal, posting lecture notes, managing student inquiries), familiarity with relevant student course materials and participation in class discussions, meeting with students, conducting student assessments and grading.

Closing date: August 15, 2024

Application process:

The application should include a CV and the CUPE 3902 Unit 3 application form in PDF or MS Word format submitted via email.
